political circles during 1946 and 1947. Now they are big patriots and many people remember that those same people reacted differently while in Hungary. I think they are opportunists, to mention a couple, Franz Molnar, the playwright (now dead) and Franz Nagy. Molnar was an "old-fashioned man". Nagy made "profitable trips" to the USSR during 1945 and 1946. He is not too well liked in Hungary.

7. Radio Free Europe's Hungarian programs are difficult to understand because the participants speak too rapidly. I feel that the Czech RFE programs were well presented.
